

Person-Centered Toolkit

Six Tools to Work Towards a Good Life

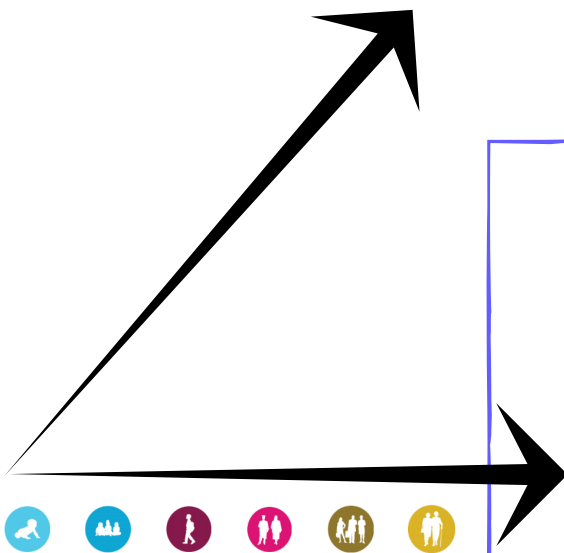

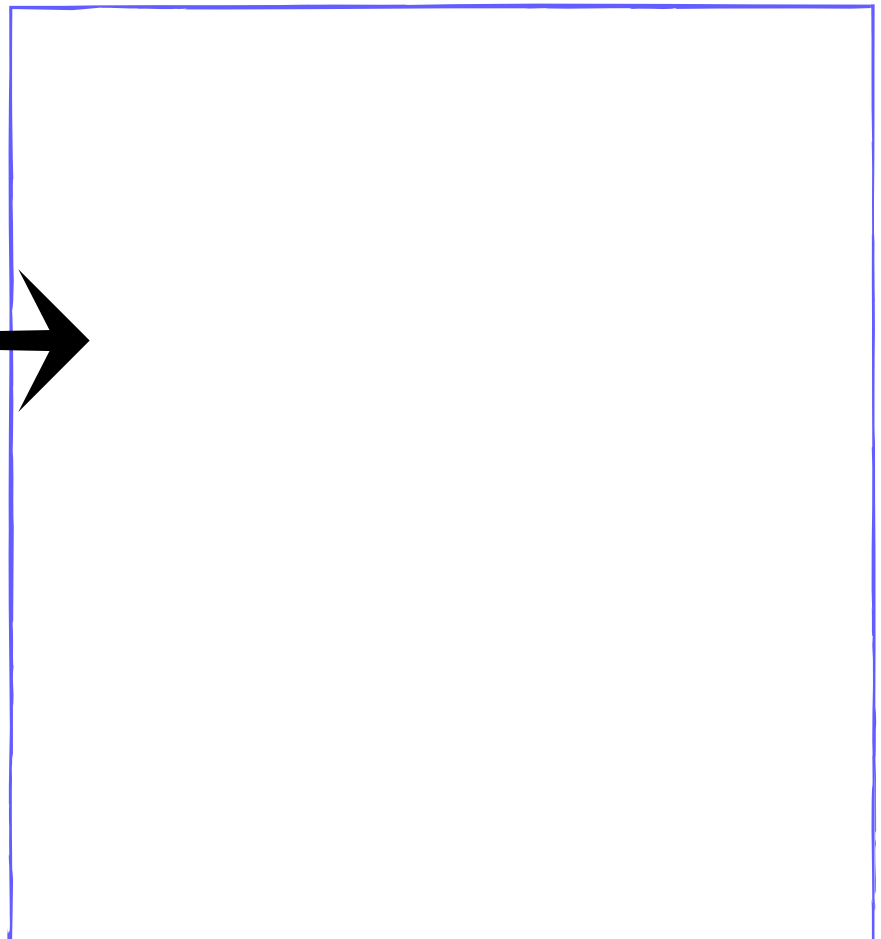

Vision for a Good Life: Life Trajectory

Everyone wants a good life. The boxes will help you think about what a good life means and what you know you don't want. You can use the space around the arrows to think about current or needed life experiences that help point you in the direction of your good life.

Vision for a Good Life

What I Do Not Want

Important

To

For

What makes the person happy, what matters to the person, and what does the person value?

What does the person need in order to be healthy and safe?

What other information is needed?

One Page Profile

Name:

What people like about me:

What is important to me:

What is important for me:

How I want to be supported:

Good Day

Bad Day

A large, empty rectangular box with a black border, intended for writing or drawing related to a 'Good Day'.

A large, empty rectangular box with a black border, intended for writing or drawing related to a 'Bad Day'.

What will it take to have more good days and less bad days?

A large, empty rectangular box with a black border, intended for writing an answer to the question above. A blue double-lined arrow icon points to the right from the bottom right corner of the box.

What's Working?

What's Not Working?

PERSON

--

--

FAMILY

--

--

STAFF

--

--

What needs to happen next to build on what's working and change what's not working?

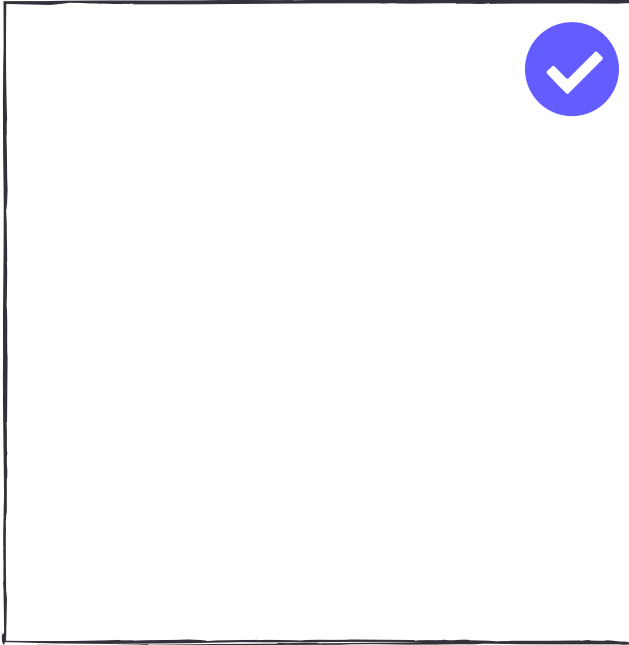

--

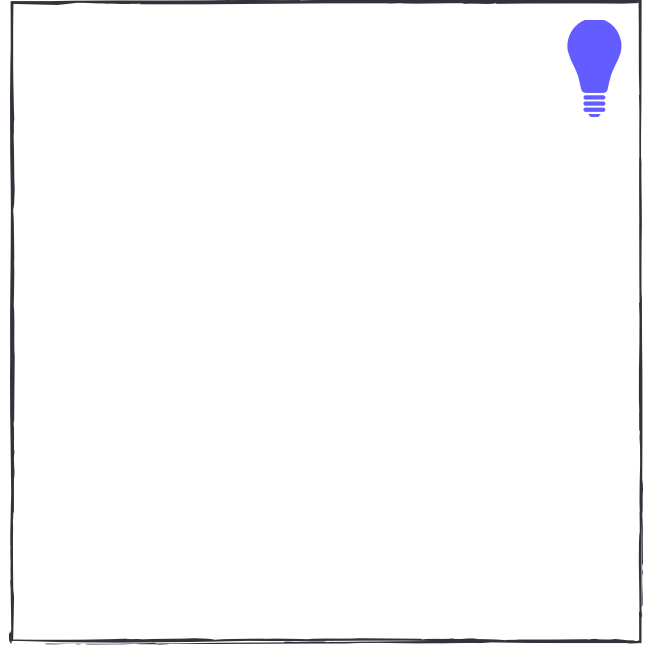

4+1

Situation:

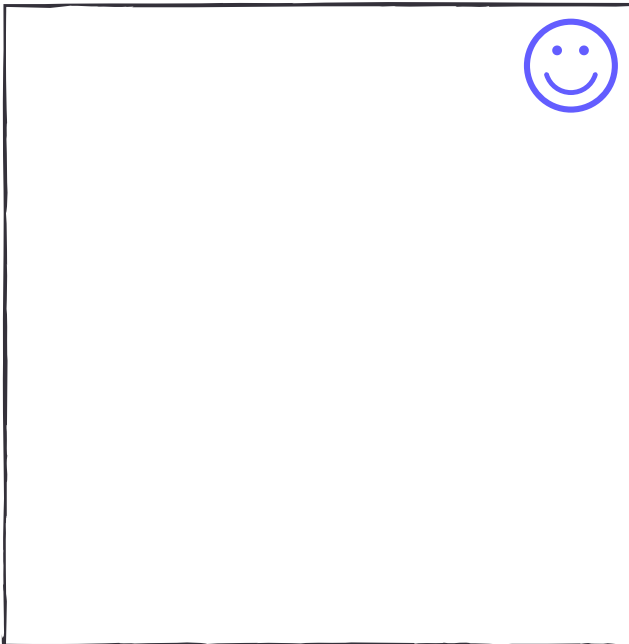

What have we tried?

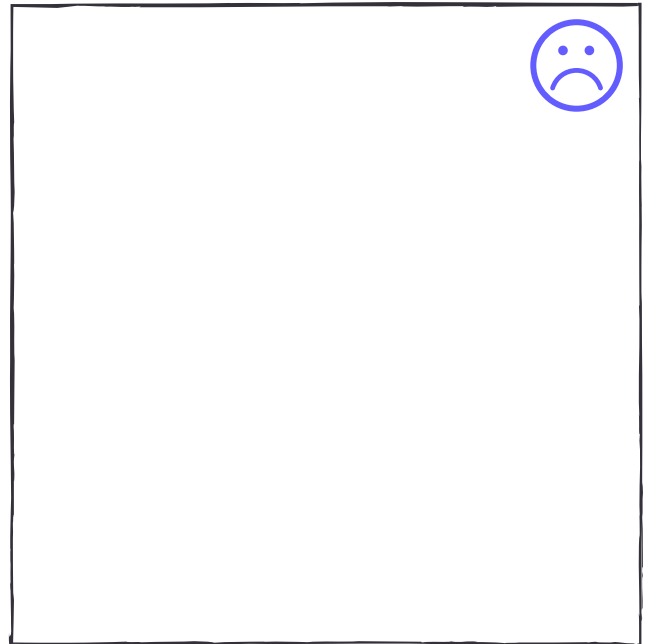

What have we learned?

What are we pleased about?

What are we concerned about?

What do we need to do next?

